

This document serves as the public declaration of The Much Honoured Phillip Afiléon Baron of Cononsyth, who lawfully acquired the Scottish feudal dignity and territorial designation of Baron of Cononsyth in 2024 by Deed of Assignation. In accordance with the customs of Scottish feudal baronage, this declaration affirms the rightful assumption and public use of the title and style in all appropriate contexts, including ceremonial, historical, and personal use.

The Barony of Cononsyth, situated in the historic county of Forfarshire (now Angus), traces its lineage through prominent families of Scottish history. This declaration stands as a testament to the continuation of that heritage into the present day.

Motto: Praeterea, usque in aeternum.
